The tank at the new land office is being filled to day from the tank at the H. B. store, which again will be filled from the tanks at the Imperial bank. The tanks at the Imperial bank are full.

A special session of the supreme court has been called for Feb. 21st to try T. E. Shepard for the murder of May Buchanan. If the prisoner is not ready for trial by that time, however, the case will stand until the regular sitting in May.

J. J. Franscios of Anthracite has been sent to L. Somers' hardware and tin-smith business in South Edmonton and will arrive on to-night's train with a large stock of hardware, to carry on business in both houses, in the building formerly occupied by W. C. Tins.

The first number of the Canadian Furniture and Upholstery Journal published in Toronto is to hand. It is a bimonthly printed 24 page monthly. It is devoted to the interests of the furniture trade, is nicely illustrated, and is the handsomest trade journal published in Canada. Subscription $1.00 a year.

A voice patrol under command of Staff Sgt. Hall of Onion lake, visited the Saddle lake and Whitefish lake Indian reserves on the 29th and 30th January. Onion lake lies 20 miles east from Saddle lake and the roads had to be broken by the police a distance of seventy miles, but no roads are impossible and no weather too cold for Sgt. Hall and his men when duty calls them. In future this patrol will make monthly visits to these reserves.

A service in connection with the dedicatory services of the Baptist church, Edmonton, was held in the south Edmonton Methodist church Thursday evening last. The service was opened with prayer by Pastor Macmillan, followed by prayer by Pastor Bennett of the south Edmonton Methodist church. Pastor Macmillan gave short introductory address, and was followed by Pastor Wainhouse who addressed the meeting on his subject the other brother. A collection was taken in aid of the Baptist church.

At this date last year we were experiencing the coldest weather of the season.

J. WALSH purchased several small lots of fur last week, including mink, beaver, fisher and lynx, aggregating about 800.

A MEETING of the curling club will be held in the rink to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock to arrange for the prizes of the season.

W. B. ALEXON has opened a carriage and sign painting business in Major Griesbach's building, opposite Ross Bros' hardware store.

Pastor Wainhouse of the Baptist church, Calgary, who has taken such a prominent and acceptable place in the delicate services of the Baptist church here, returned home on Friday's train.

As a result of the recent visit of police commissioner Herchmer to Fort Saskatchewan it has been decided to erect stabling for 40 horses, hospital building and officers quarters at Fort Saskatchewan during the coming summer. Work will commence at once.

The Edmonton orchestral society give a grand concert in Robertson hall on Friday night. There will be vocal as well as instrumental music. As the society comprises a number of members who as musicians and singers are not excelled in the Northwest it is to be expected that there will be a full house.

WESTERN Winks of January 27th is to hand. The first page cartoon by J. H. Holt is timely, pointed and well drawn, but runs foul of the popular cause. A short article in the number incidentally mentions Geo. K. Lessow of Calgary as a prospective candidate for D. W. Davis' shoes in the representation of Alberta.

EX ALDERMAN Lewis of Ottawa, late of Red Deer, is certainly establishing a reputation as a first class man. He told one of the many reporters who interviewed him that he had travelled hundreds of miles on a tour, and that all the settlers are in a terrible condition. The Calgary Herald publishes an interview with a Red Deer neighbor of Lewis's in which the other side of the case is set forth very vividly. Lewis evidently thinks that by decrying the country he is getting even with some body or something, and does not care to what extreme he goes.

On Tuesday evening, January 30th, about three o'clock, two double team loads of South Siders left for Mr. Hugh Irwin's farm, Beaver hills, where they were met by a large number of friends and acquaintances. After partaking of refreshments the house was cleared and dancing commenced and was kept up till about five o'clock next morning. A vote of thanks was then given Mr. and Mrs. Irwin and the company joined in singing God Save the Queen. Refreshments were again served the Edmonton people before they started for home, delighted with their trip.

THE H. B. mail packet which arrived on Saturday, January 26th was not from Peace river but from the Mackenzie river and came by way of Lac la Biche. The return packet will leave for the north in February, the idea being to allow the letters which came down on the 27th to be answered from Winnipeg. The February packet will reach Fort Simpson, on Mackenzie river, some time in March, and will be the only news which the residents there and at the posts along the route receive and beyond, will receive from the close of navigation last fall to the opening of navigation next season—practically a mail once in six months.

One day last week the town was excited about a rumor of war having been declared by Britain. No confirmation was received of the alleged news and the excitement quieted down. Still, many people have since been enquiring: Was there no foundation for the rumor? It would appear from the newspaper received by mail that the probable foundation was a certain course of action taken by the Khedive of Egypt, for which he graciously apologized, under pressure of the despatch of troops from Aden to insist on the apology. No doubt this was the occasion of the sensational rumor. In acting as he did the Khedive relied on the backing of France, and had he been as sure of his ground as he thought he was, trouble with him would have meant trouble with France. The starting of the troops was equivalent to a declaration of war in his case—so the rumor was pretty straight after all.

R. GOLETT, of the lands commissioner's office, Winnipeg, who visited Edmonton recently to investigate the claims for scrip made by the Iroquois half breeds of Jasper house, returned last week. It is understood that a part at least of the scrip claimed will be recommended. The question to be decided is as to whether the parties claiming scrip were living on the south or on the north side of the Athabasca river in July 1870, as that river forms the boundary of the Territory in regard to which the arrangement regarding scrip was made. It appears that the band live on both sides of the Athabasca, that is, they hunt or trap sometimes on one side and sometimes on the other, so that the absolute right of any member to scrip is hard to establish. At the same time as they are all entitled to it according to the spirit of the agreement, it would scarcely seem necessary to throw out any of the claims on a mere technicality.

CALGARY Hera d: T. J. Cunningham late of Pembina, Dakota, came down from Edmonton on last Friday's train. He is on his way to his old home in Dakota with a view of advising his friends and others to come out and settle in Alberta. Mr. Cunningham told Mr. R. L. Alexander that he had gone up to Edmonton in February last and purchased a quarter section from the C.P.R. close to Fort Saskatchewan, and after spending two months returned to Dakota and sold out a quarter section of land in what is considered one of the best parts of Dakota, and returned in November last, bringing with him two ears of thorough-bred cattle and pigs, and intends to make a specialty in raising cattle and pigs and also going into dairying. Since returning in November he has purchased a half section of partly cultivated land adjoining his own. After spending some time in his old home he proposes returning with more stock. To use his own words he says: "I am delighted with the country and think the prospects are good."

STILL the finest of fine weather. Town council meets on Wednesday night. The land office will be closed on Wednesday next, Ash Wednesday.

W. H. CUSHING of Calgary is in town having come in last train.

NINETEEN homestead entries in the Edmonton land office in January.

Mrs. W. S. ROBINSON is again very ill, but was improving this morning.

M. McCAYLE is shipping a car of oats to Golden, B. C. on to-morrow's train.

Miss James, niece of Mrs. Macdonald, wife of Rev. A. Macdonald, is very ill.

A MEETING to organize a lodge of the patrons of industry at St. Albert was held on Saturday afternoon in the school house. D. Maloney chairman. There was a good attendance of farmers of St. Albert and surrounding districts. The chairman gave a short introductory address and read the articles of the constitution. M. McKinlay of Sturgeon river addressed the meeting on the necessity of organization by the farmers. A. E. E. M. L. A. delivered an address expressing sympathy with the efforts of the farmers towards the increase of their influence and the betterment of their position. Rev. Father Leduc gave an address in which he discussed the objects of the society and expressed his approval. As a result of the meeting the lodge at St. Albert was organized, with fourteen members.

THE smoking concert at the Raymond hotel South Edmonton on Friday night had a fair attendance. Mr. Gilmore, of the H. B. Co. offices occupied the chair and a very interesting programme was rendered. F. H. Andrews, piano, W. Mortimer, violin, Messrs. Vanbuskirk and Dando, banjo, and J. Flynn, whistle, kept up the instrumental side of the concert most acceptably. A number of the vocalists announced on the programme did not appear, but their places were filled by volunteers who showed a great deal of talent, amongst whom were E. Sheppard, J. Brunelle, F. V. Hislop, Messrs. W. Mortimer and J. O. Vanbuskirk rendered several songs most acceptably. After the programme was completed a splendid supper was served at 12 o'clock, and dancing followed until an early hour.

EDMONTON BULLETIN, FEBRUARY 3rd, 1894.

THE BRIDGE.

As the session of parliament approaches the interest of the people of Edmonton and district in the question of a bridge across the Saskatchewan naturally increases. In view of the fact that three members of the Cabinet saw for themselves the circumstances of the case and freely acknowledged the necessity of a bridge last season, that one of them at least made a very definite promise regarding its construction, and in view also of the fact that surveys have been made, plans drawn and estimates of cost arrived at; it would appear that if we are to have a bridge at all within any reasonable time, the appropriation will be made during the approaching session of parliament. No stronger evidence as to the need of a bridge can be brought to the attention of the government and no further information is required—and yet, we may not get it. There is no question that as far as the minister of interior is concerned, he is desirous that the river should be bridged, and unless he had full confidence that it would be he would have been foolish to have used the language he did on the subject while here. He might as well have answered evasively on that—as he did on other subjects had he thought it necessary. If, after his making the promises he did, if a bridge is not given it will certainly show that his influence in the cabinet is slight. For his own sake—besides his belief in the justice of our requests—he is bound to do all in his power to help us. But after all he is not the whole cabinet, and for that matter neither are the other two ministers who honored us with a visit. The three together are not even a majority, and no matter how much they may desire to give Edmonton its rights in this matter, they may be overruled by the other members of the cabinet who also have claims to press—claims the accession to which might mean very many more votes than the Northwest at large could give, even if the whole Territories were interested in a bridge at Edmonton, instead of its being only the Edmonton district. The fact that after very definite promises last year a sum was put in the estimates for a bridge there, only to be dropped out before being submitted to the house, shows that there are influences against us, and also shows that what was possible last year may be repeated again this year. If it was necessary to send a delegation to Ottawa in former years in regard to this bridge matter it is far more necessary on the present occasion. So that when influences and arguments are being brought to bear against the project there shall be some one at hand with facts and figures and arguments to back up our case and so that if the appropriation is again dropped the blame may be fixed on the right shoulders. The estimates are now being prepared and now is the time to make our case good. If we wait until parliament meets or until it is half over we will be told that the appropriations are already settled and cannot be altered. By presenting our claim now the sum will be provided or not upon the merits of the case.

Another reason why the matter should be pushed at this session is that political matters are in a very unsettled state. The present administration may be put on trial at the polls almost at any time, with what result cannot be told. The bridge question has been pushed to the very climax as matters stand and could we get it clinched by an appropriation at the coming session we would be safe in any political event. If it is laid over this session it is quite possible that in the political turmoil likely soon to occur it may be lost sight of for a time, or even for years.

A word as to the interests that would be served by a bridge here may not be out of place. Because the town has moved most strongly in the matter and no doubt will continue to take the lead, it does not follow that a bridge would be solely or even chiefly in the town's interest. A bridge would be in the interest of the development of the whole country north of the Saskatchewan as well as of the town of Edmonton—or even to a greater degree. It would be to the interest of South Edmonton as well as of Edmonton and would be to the interest of the railway and its traffic most of all. The chief interest that the towns would have in it would be that it would fix this as the point on the Saskatchewan, and instead of injuring one side of the river or the other would tend to build up both by creating confidence that right here is to be the great city of the future which everyone knows the development of the vast and varied resources of this district and its tributary regions must build somewhere on the Saskatchewan.

NORMAL SCHOOL AGAIN.

Dealing with the normal school question in the North West the Calgary Herald says:

Possibly more might be done in the way of providing adequate training for the teachers, but Rome was not built in a day and a great deal has been accomplished in that way since last fall, when the work commenced. It is a matter of opinion whether shorter sessions and more of them would not for a year or two meet the requirements of the case, but the country is paying a highly qualified man to attend to the work and it should be left in his hands. He is or should be conversant with the situation, and he may be expected to do his utmost to cope with its difficulties when properly placed before him.

The Herald scarcely does itself justice in the above quotation. The idea that a man should be hired at so much a month to know what the people of the country require according to their several circumstances better than they do themselves, is original if not brilliant. The employee of the government may be doing his duty according to his lights, but those whose business it is to represent the views and interests of the people are not doing their duty if they do not take proper measures to carry out those views and support those interests. The BULLETIN's contention is that, either attendance at the normal sessions should not be made compulsory, or if made compulsory the sessions should be so located as not to debar a large section of the Territories from the benefit of them on account of expense.

A BOARD OF TRADE.

It is nearly two months since the visit of Messrs Kerr and Whyte of the C. P. R. to Edmonton, at which time those gentlemen gave it to be understood that reduction in export rates on grain to the Pacific Coast would likely be made. Winter is now on the turn for spring and no reduction has yet been made, the consequence being that shipments have been light and prices low. There is no question that Edmonton has a good case for lower rates to the coast, so good a case in fact that a reduction is certain to be conceded if the matter is properly stated and strenuously pressed. The trouble is not that what is everybody's business no body attends to; and although in accordance with the request of Messrs. Kerr and Whyte representations were made by a citizens' committee to keep pressing the matter upon the attention of the company. Even should we get a reduction now, the increased business that would have resulted from reduced rates during the past two months, the dullest of the winter, has been lost. This is a case which shows the necessity and advisability of reviving the board of trade which did such good work three and four years ago. A board of trade is a definite organization representing the commercial interests, not of the town alone, but of the country which does business with the town as well.

Having a fixed organization it is in a position to deal promptly with all matters affecting the business interests of the district as they arise and to press its views steadily to success. There is no other organization or form of organization that can do the work of a board of trade where a real necessity for such an organization exists. There are many towns as large as Edmonton where there is no need of a board of trade—places whose field is limited by the existence of other towns or whose conditions are fixed by the country being filled up around them. But with Edmonton the case is different. Its field of trade is the largest solely tributary to any town on the continent. It occupies a position unlike that of any other place on the continent. Practically its resources are unbounded, and its field unlimited. The only question is how this field to be occupied and how resources to be developed to the best advantage from this point by those whose interests are here? The question of freight rates is only one of the many that could be dealt with to advantage by the board of trade, although the most important at the present time. It is not necessary to say what other questions there are that require attention, the main point being that the members of the commercial interests of the district should put themselves in shape to make their influence felt if the best is to be done that can be done both for the individuals themselves and for the district at large. Whatever will increase trade, or facilitate the exchange of the products of the district for the other requirements of the people, will tend to increase production and benefit both producer and consumer. Now is the time to organize, before the spring business commences.
